NET2019 Conference

The NET Conference is firmly established as the leading annual international conference for networking in healthcare education, and in 2019 we celebrate our 30th anniversary.

NET2019 is a unique opportunity to share research, innovation and the latest ideas and experiences with a wide range of colleagues from the UK and overseas. It is for everyone interested in debating the latest developments and thinking in healthcare education: educators, practitioners, researchers and students from all healthcare disciplines.

The NET Conference philosophy is unique and sets it apart from other events. Highly experienced convenors facilitate in-depth group discussion in themed sessions with presenters and delegates contributing to the debate, sharing experiences and networking.

Abstracts

We would like to invite you to submit an abstract for NET2019 for one of the following types of paper:

Theme papers

Papers should focus on one of three categories: research, innovation or issues for debate and address one of the conference themes. They are an opportunity to present the findings of recent research projects, discuss innovations that have been successfully implemented and evaluated at your institution, or reflect on a contemporary educational issue.

Posters

Posters should address topical, innovative and emerging issues relating to the future of healthcare education.

Symposium

Symposia presentations are designed to explore a leading edge topic that might not be addressed by this year's conference themes. A symposium should consist of between three or four papers with a shared focus.

Conference awards and prizes

The Andrew McKie Best

Pre-Registration Student Abstract Award

Open to pre-registration students who are the lead authors on an abstract submission.

First-time presenter prize

Open only to those who have never previously presented at ANY academic conference.

Best poster prize

Open to all poster presenters and based on the quality of poster content, design, balance and flow of information.
