NETworking & Innovation in Healthcare Education Conference 2023

NETworking & Innovation in Healthcare Education (NET) is the leading, international conference for healthcare educators across a range of disciplines. It provides a unique opportunity to engage with the latest evidence, developments and thinking in healthcare education, alongside educators, learners, practitioners and researchers from across the UK and beyond.

To allow for a positive in-person experience, the 2023 conference will be delivered as a full in-person, three-day, immersive experience. However, as many found the virtual and hybrid conference modes allowed for greater access, flexibility and reduced fees, every second year the conference will be delivered virtually using Advance HE’s virtual conference suite.

Ethos

NET provides a unique opportunity for delegates to engage with the latest world-wide research evidence, developments and thinking with educators, practitioners and students. Papers are arranged in themed sessions where delegates participate in in-depth discussion and debate on a topic, facilitated by skilled convenors.

Some inspiring speakers and great networking opportunities. Such a friendly conference.”

Gillian Rayner
University of Central Lancashire NET2022 presenter

Key information

Date: 5-7 December 2023

Submissions now invited

Submit your abstract online at: https://advance-he.onlinesurveys.ac.uk/net2023-submissions

For 2023, we are simplifying the submission process, as feedback from presenters indicated that this was overly complicated and time consuming. As such, we are removing the prescriptive section headings and reducing the indicated word count to just 500 words for submissions. However, submissions should still include reference to current literature and thinking, and a section for references will still form part of the submission form.

Conference themes:
+ Overarching theme: Empowering a successful learning journey
+ Enabling success through recruitment and admissions, learning design and delivery
+ Enabling success through belonging and learner engagement
+ Enabling success through learner support
+ Innovating to develop the future healthcare workforce.

Abstracts

Submissions will be welcomed under any of the conference themes for the following session types:
